

Landscape Analysis

Highlighting key trends, competitor strategies, and potential gaps in the market

Key trends

- More companies are integrating disability inclusion into their DEI initiatives, increasing demand for workplace consulting and compliance services.
- Governments are strengthening disability employment policies, such as the ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) compliance requirements and incentives for businesses to hire disabled individuals.
- A shift from traditional charity-based models to skills training, entrepreneurship programs, and workforce integration initiatives.

Competitor strategies

- Political Lobbying and Public Policy Interest
- Advocacy
- Provision of Direct Services (Job Training, Financial Support, Resources)
- Research

NOD's unique differentiators

NOD focuses on increasing inclusion for people with disabilities by working directly with employers rather than with people with disabilities themselves.

Potential gaps in the market

- Bridging the Disability Pay Gap
- Most programs focus on entry-level jobs, but there's a lack of support for disabled professionals in leadership roles.
- Global Interests